PORTLAND CIVIC PLAYERS SUMMER THEATRE Parent/Participant Agreement

Please list at the bottom any and all conflicts with Summer Theatre such as camps, sports, vacations, transportation, etc.

By signing below, I agree to obey the following set of rules.

1. Respect the authority of the directors. The directors have a big job to maintain order and safety for all participants. We will do our best to maintain a fun environment while keeping order and education at the forefront.

2. Respect fellow participants and their property. Stealing, gossiping, fighting, and other such problematic behavior causes distrust in an atmosphere intended to foster trust. Please keep the Golden Rule in mind. It is also highly encouraged that participants bring only needed items to the theater. This minimizes the possibility of lost and stolen items.

3. Respect the theatre:

a. There is to be no abuse of property. This includes, but is not limited to, misuse of equipment, being in areas off limits to participants, bringing any food or drink other than water into the auditorium, and the intentional destruction of theater property. We take pride in our building and hope you will too.

b. There is to be no reckless behavior. This includes, but is not limited to, running in the theater, jumping off the stage, wearing improper clothing, abusing props or set pieces, and using equipment in an unsafe manner or that is off limits. We are committed to the safety of all our participants and will take all steps to maintain a safe environment.

4. Always participate to the fullest, accepting any role and all details that come with it in a mature manner. All activities are meant to foster the craft of theater. Unless there is a physical reason why participants are unable to join in an activity, they are expected to give full effort. Failure to do so will be dealt with at the director's discretion. Additionally, all participants must play the role assigned to them without complaint and with dedication to the play, the role, and all fellow actors. In doing so, participants must wear the costume, makeup, and hairstyle of the director's choosing.
